[Redacted] have told me about their conversations with you when you were here in Washington, and I am sorry that my schedule prevented me from meeting you personally.

As you know, we are interviewing now for positions we expect to have available on the Intelligence Community Staff in the months ahead. At the moment I am not sure that we will have a slot that matches your background and educational training; however, our needs may change over the next several months, and if it is acceptable to you, I will keep your resume on file and get in touch with you later if an appropriate opening develops.

Thank you for talking with us.

Sincerely,

STAT
